1. You may use your notes, books, research papers, and online resources as references when completing the exam. You must write all solutions in your own words. Do not copy text from another source, even if you cite the source.
2. No collaboration is allowed. Do not discuss the exam with anyone. Do not post questions online about the course material or the exam before the exam deadline. Do not read questions or answers that may be posted online about this exam. Any violation of this policy will result in a failing grade in the course.
3. All solutions must be typed. You may include figures where appropriate. Figures may be created digitally or may be hand-drawn (neatly).
4. Put the solution to each question on a separate page. If a solution requires more than one page, that is fine. Make sure to start the solution to the next question on a new page. You do not need to include the question text in your solution.
